

Complimentary Legal Research Assistant

We'll help you find what you're looking for

At LexisNexis®, we understand when you need critical legal research, you need it fast.

To ensure you make the most from your LexisNexis subscription, we now offer firms complimentary access to our new Legal Research Service. To use the Legal Research Service, you need to be an existing Lexis Advance® subscriber.

How the Legal Research Assistant can help you:

- Provide guidance when you are having difficulty constructing searches or returning relevant results with Lexis Advance
- Give advice on research strategy; how to start, refine and make the most of your search results
- Help you find a range of case law, legislation and secondary material relevant to your matter
- Suggest additional complimentary training and support
